Meet the Head Badger!

NAME: Chris Clarke
ALSO KNOWN AS: Clarkey
POSITION: Bar Manager / Head Badger
FAMOUS FOR: Quizzes, questionable shirts

Chris Clarke (pictured) is 40, born and bred in Harrogate and has over 15 years experience in one of Harrogate's most successful traditional pubs.

Clarkey's renowned for his passion for good beer, his "interesting" taste in shirts, and his weekly quizzes.

He says, "People believe that just because I ask all the questions, then I must know all the answers, but anyone who heard me on Radio 2's Popmaster, or saw me on the quiz-show Eggheads will know that is definitely not the case!"

About The Fat Badger he says, "A proper pub nowadays is not so easy to find, but at The Fat Badger we've got all the ingredients of a real winner, including the most important one: it's going to be fun!"

Come on down!

Harrogate's latest social venue opens at 7.00 pm on Friday 20th May. But this isn't some trendy bar with loud music, strobe lighting and alcopops; nor is it another bar with TV sports everywhere you look. It is actually that rarest of creatures in Britain today - a traditional pub!

The Fat Badger, for that is indeed what it is called, has been taking shape over the past few months and is just one part of the development at The White Hart at the bottom of Cold Bath Road.

Although within the fabric of the hotel, The Fat Badger is most definitely not a hotel bar. It is a pub and intent on recapturing all those qualities that a good old traditional pub would have, but adding a modern level of service and choice.

At a time when people feel that the town centre has little to offer those who want a good night out without the wall-to-wall big screen sports coverage or the conversation-killing music, then there is now a real alternative with The Fat Badger.

The name may be a little quirky, but there are distinct similarities with its natural namesake. Badgers are quintessentially British, live in a social environment and yet are increasingly tricky to find. Well if that sounds like the elusive traditional pub to you, your search may be over. Come on down and see for yourself.
